Halo Prism

Halo Prism represents the research work carried out by Mandalaki Studio about the concept of decomposition of white light that travels in the universe.

The visual representation of an arch, composed of the seven fundamental colors, symbolizes a bridge connecting the Earth and the Sky, the material and spiritual reality.

The physical object, compact and powerful, contains a sophisticated optical system capable of defining light and colors in a sharp and precise way: like a clean cut, it breaks through physical reality, projecting us into a parallel dimension in which we can reconnect with the natural elements.
