

TMM Metálico

Miguel Milá. 1964
Wall lamp

The TMM Metálico wall lamp is part of Miguel Milá's collection for TRAMO, the company he founded to produce his own work in post-war Spain. He was starting off in a profession that he would later go on to master. He was a pre-industrial designer seeking convenient solutions with the technology available. Milá's words, like his pieces, have an incredible depth that lies beneath their simplicity.

This variation on the long TMM wall lamp incorporates a metal channel and a white methacrylate shade, making both materials more damp-resistant than their wooden and parchment counterparts.

Miguel Milá offers a brilliant lesson of good taste and minimalism in an exquisite demonstration of formal serenity and functional efficiency.
